THE CLASS OF 1944

EVANSTON TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL

EVANSTON ILLINOIS

VOLUME XXVII

FOREWORD

The staff of the 1944 Yearbook is proud to have the opportunity in the special section that closes the book to give at least a partial representation of the distinguished record of its alumni in the service of the country. Other sections of the book attempt to show how the school has cooperated with the community in the war effort.

In the Service Flag of Evanston Township High School are many blue stars. Part of the vigor and endurance, the alert brain and quick action, of the American Fighting Man, was developed here. Evanston is proud of these blue stars.

There are gold stars also. Occasionally a blue star must be taken down and replaced with a gold one. To those alumni and former classmates who have graduated cum laude from the grim school of conflict, this Yearbook is reverently dedicated.

YEARBOOK

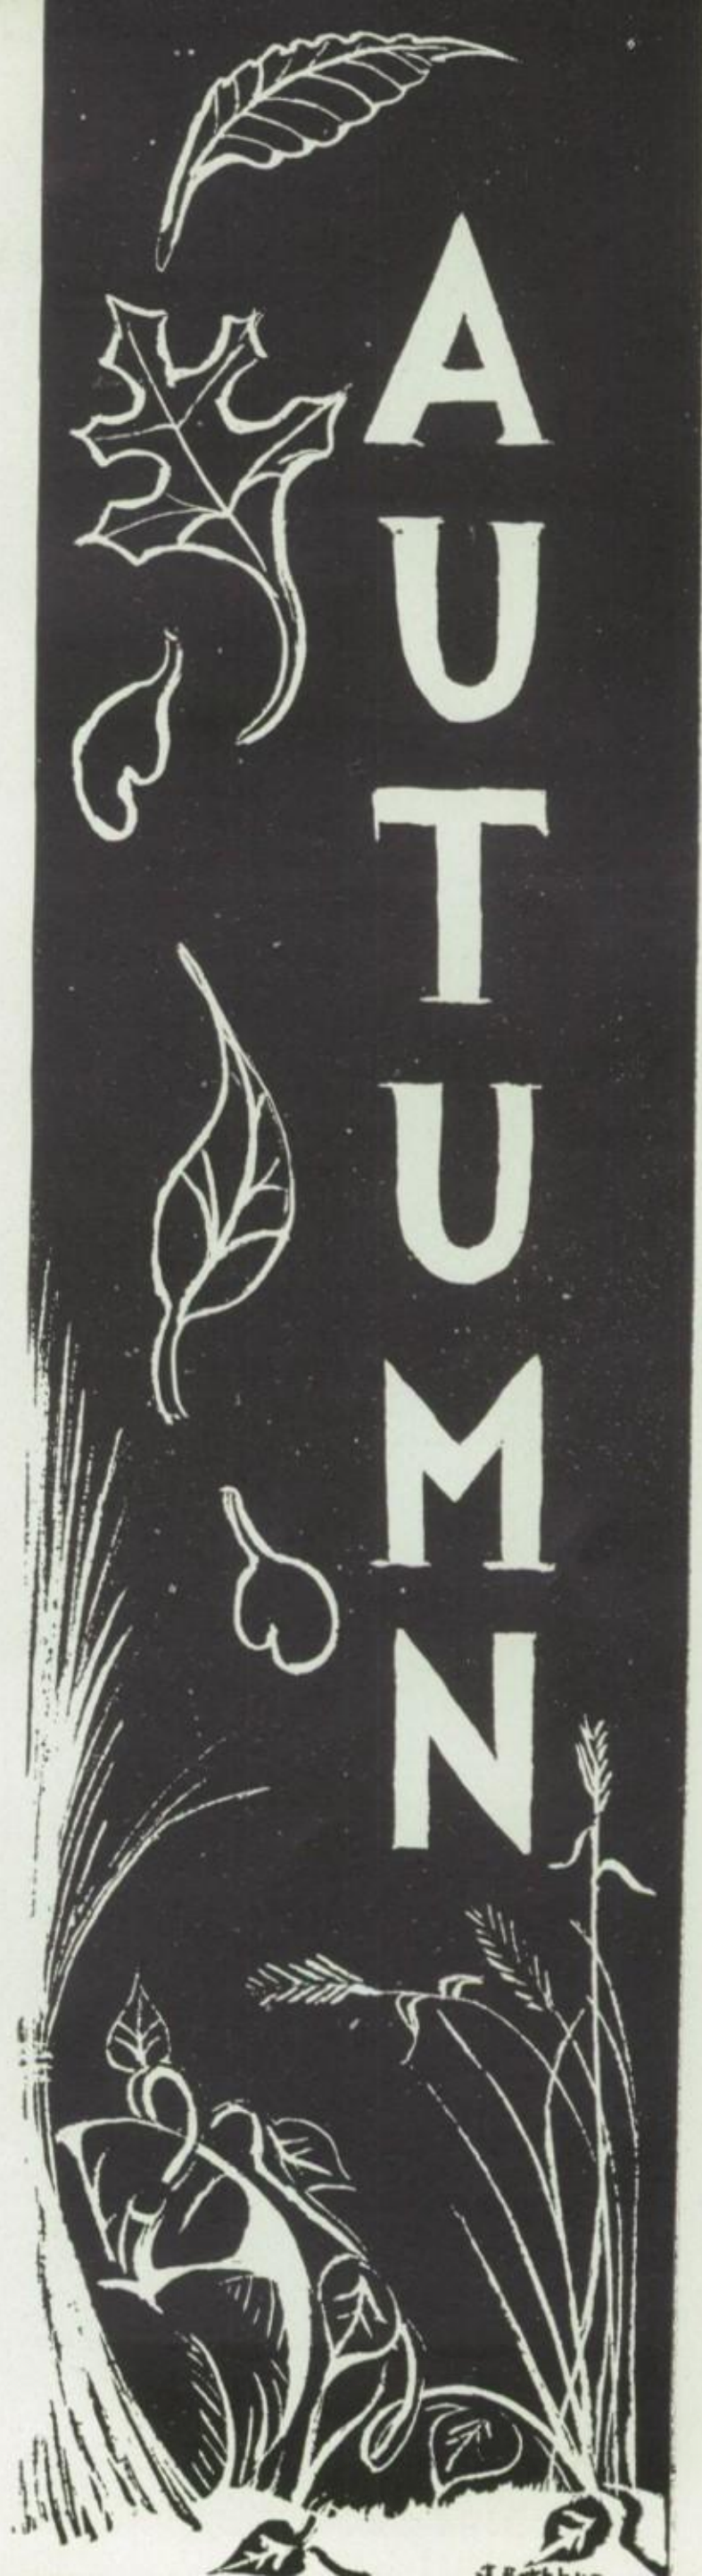

Wartime priorities made it doubtful at first whether there would be a Yearbook. Though Charles Robertson and his business staff had almost finished their senior collections and Marilyn Mortensen was coordinating the plans for a Yearbook of which production was still highly uncertain, not until February did things start to hum with assurance in room 147. Joan Dreyfus racked everyone's brain, including her own, for the literary copy. Nelson Shawn photographed everything from the Christmas Festival to the Girls' Drill Corps. The art staff, headed by Betty Jayne Harbert, drew everything but the contracts, which were left to Miss Dorothy Colburn, faculty adviser.

In September, when classes met again after a long summer in which school cares were no doubt forgotten, the first days were long and strange. But by the second week the Victory Corps committee was on duty again, planning the activities of a successful and patriotic season. The Girls' Drill Corps, the Military Training Corps, the regular Wednesday war stamp sales, the numerous drives, and other wartime activities functioned busily again.

All senior girls prepared for the future by taking the Red Cross Home Nursing course, while some, especially Drill Corps recruits, rolled bandages and made sterile dressings several afternoons a week.

For relaxation and exhilaration there were track meets and football games to watch, and fall sports to enjoy in the crisp Indian Summer coolness. Then there were G.A.A. and Saddle Club barn dances to attend, the Harvest Informal and Pentangle Turnabout to swing and sway at. Two school-sponsored dances brought a new high in dramatic skits with well worked out song-and-dance numbers first by Pentangle members and later by Quadrangle boys. The drama department put on two lunch-hour plays, including an original one by a member of the graduating class. This play took its place in history as a welcome, although a satirical welcome, to the class of '47.

Two yearly activities not to be ignored were the magazine drive, the biggest ever, and the budget ticket sales, which initiated freshmen to the business mind of E.T.H.S.

FINANCIERS

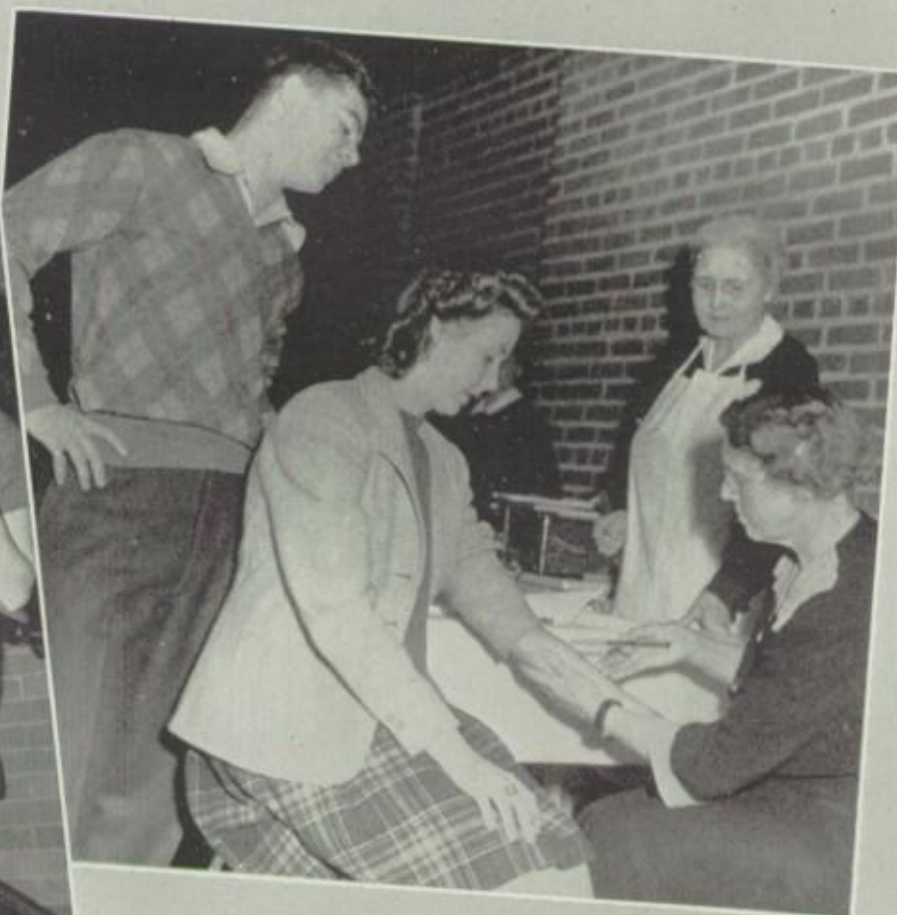

Not content with merely edging out the other high schools in the country, E.T.H.S. went $1,500 beyond its closest competitor in the magazine campaign. The total was $34,771.40—over $10,000 more than in the preceding year. The top salesmen for 1943 were William Harwood and Jane Young.

"The greatest purchase in the world" was the slogan sung out by Bruce Galloway, this year's budget manager. Said Bruce, "The sales have surpassed last year's by ten percent, and they are still going strong. You know, the Yearbook is absolutely free—if you hold a budget ticket."

QUADRANGLE

Quadrangle's activities were directed by a board consisting of Orchard Benington, president; James O'Brien, vice-president; Otis Green, second vice-president; James Rogers, corresponding secretary; and Fred Harker, treasurer. The boys with "Q" armbands did hall-guarding and lunch-room duty. Besides these daily duties, Quadrangle supported drives such as the USO book drive, organized Field Day, sponsored intramural sports, and refereed at intramural games.

The Harvest Informal and Dads' Night, an evening event to award athletic letters, highlighted Quadrangle's social program.

PENTANGLE

In addition to the regular work of the committees, Pentangle has carried on war activities through the war collections committee, whose drives for bottle caps and hangers, directed by Donna Aleshire, were successful.

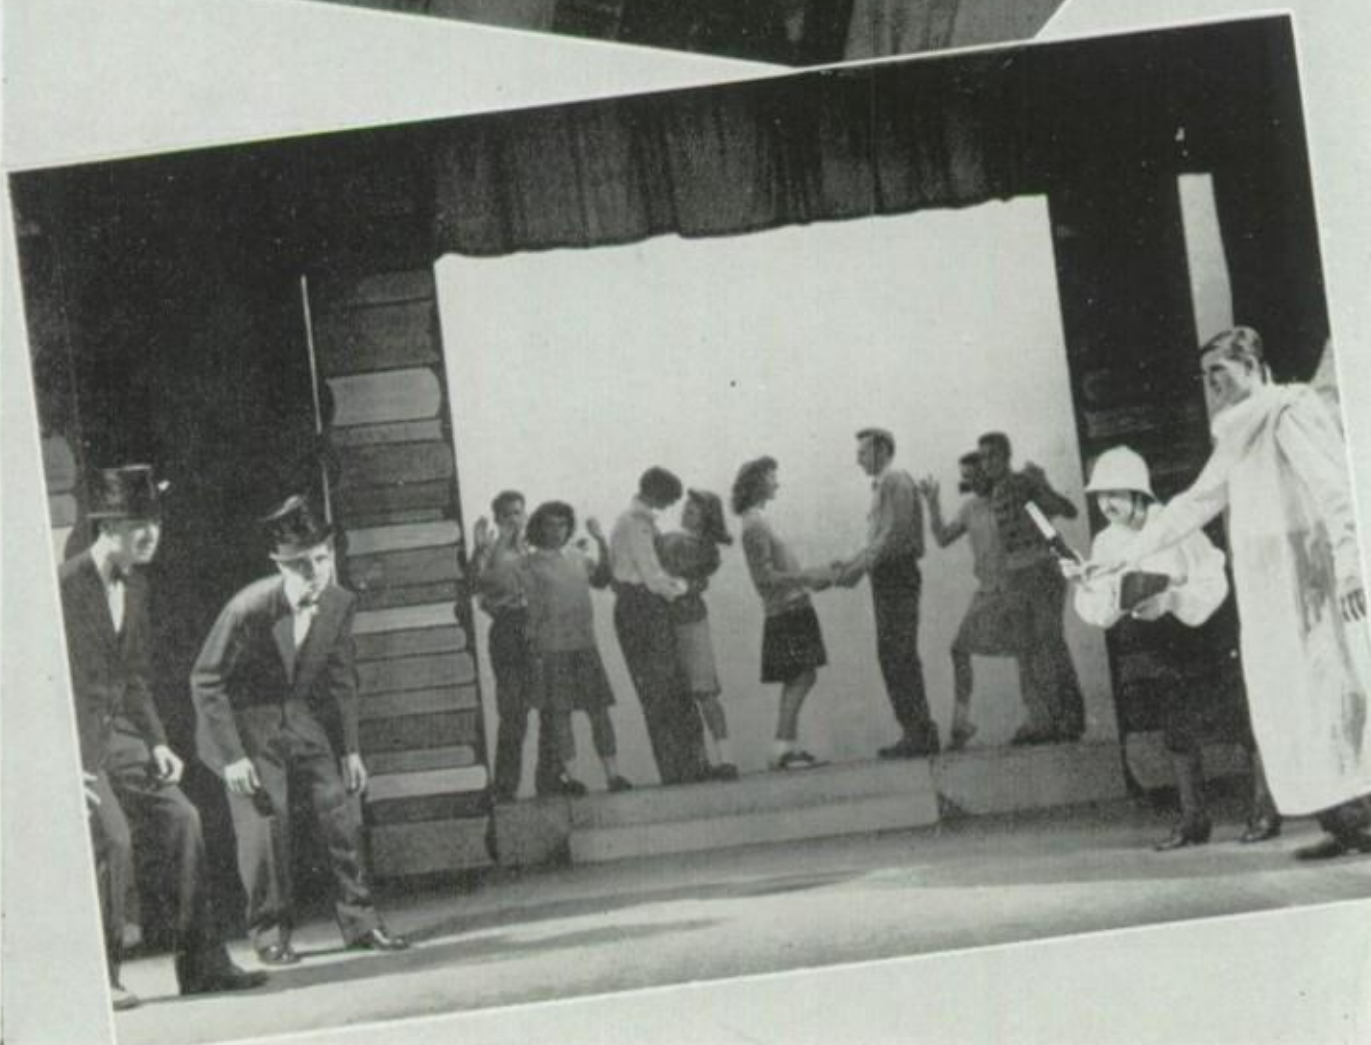

Nancy Strader, president, Sue Cattin, vice-president, Harriet Barker, secretary, and Betty Carlberg, treasurer, directed the year's activities.

FOOTBALL

The 1943 football squad was a potentially great suburban league team. A difference of one point in each of two games would have meant a co-championship. The difference of one touchdown and two extra points would have meant an undefeated season. From the squad of ninety-five that reported for pre-season practice came a team that showed its power by smashing Senn 26-6. A week later this team had a chance to show its grand heart by coming from behind in the second half to defeat Waukegan 13-7. Next came a breather with Waller, 53-0. But the following Saturday Evanston lost to a fine Proviso team, 7-8, by a safety. The game with Oak Park was a smashing hard game. Evanston led at the half, 6-0, but to Oak Park's traditionally great second-half team, lost 6-14. Apparently put on the skids by these two defeats, Evanston was losing to Maine 0-7 at the half, but came back in the second half to win 20-7. Hoping to avenge last year's loss, the team was keyed up to defeat Morton. But a super-abundance of fifteen-yard penalties and a tough team beat them in the most heartbreaking game of the season, 6-7. It is indicative of the truly great qualities of the team that it could come back after three tragic losses to defeat its old friends from the north, New Trier, 13-0. A disappointing season but a truly great team.

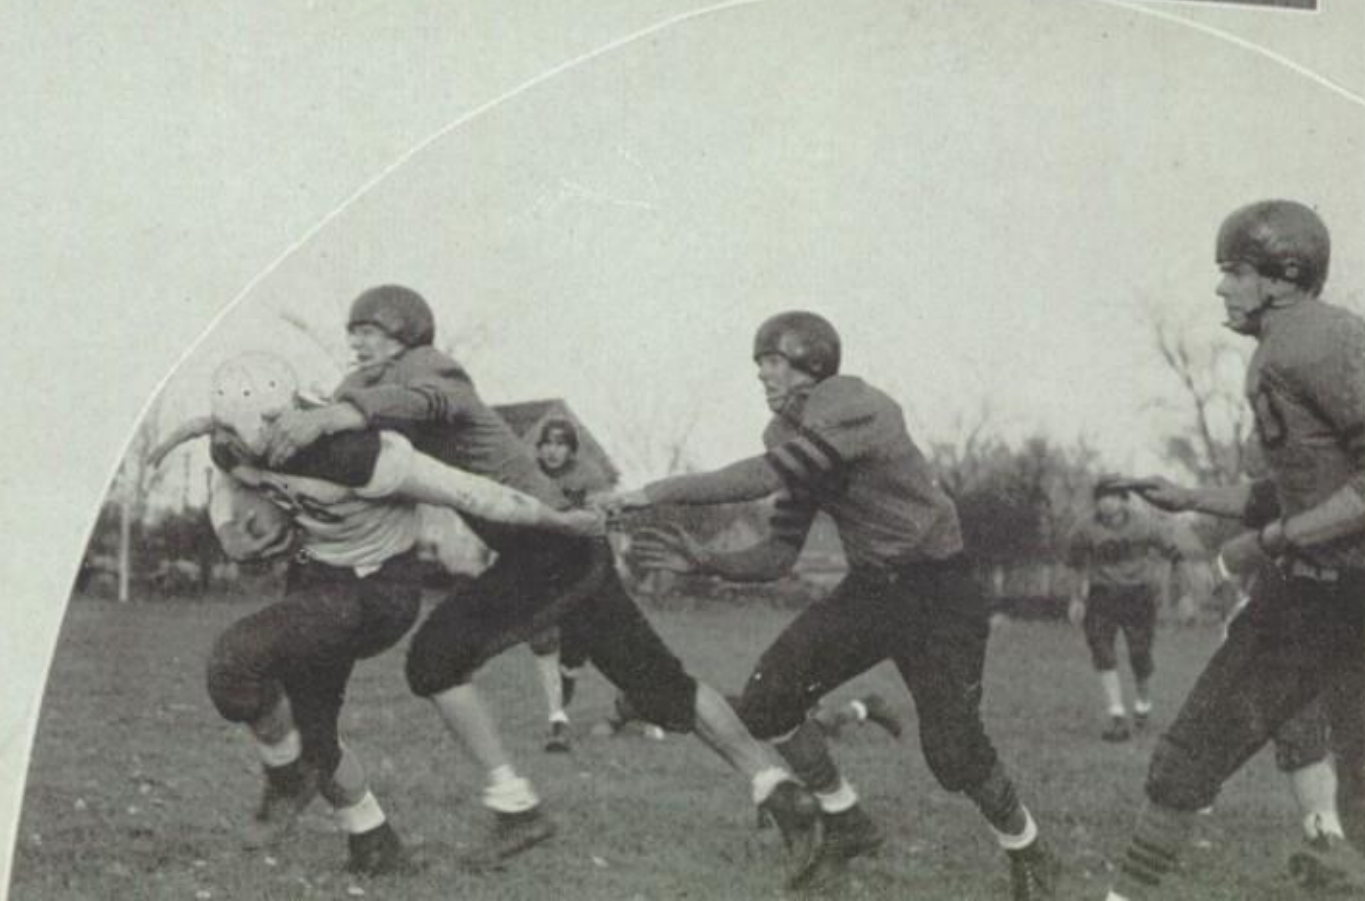

Let us in there.

On the bottom.

Climb aboard.

Mr. Rothacher, head coach, worked primarily with the backfield while Mr. Connor coached the line. The regulars, who include several sixty-minute men, were the co-captains Dick Jones, center, and Erv Hauf, fullback; Bud Lemon and Jim Parsegian, guards; Jim Horne and Bob Bliss, tackles; Corky Johnson and Buddy Rice, two junior ends; Dick Snyder and Dave de Swarte at the halves; and Orchie Benington, quarterback. Senior reserves were Russ Aagaard, Sam Adams, Tom Boswell, Fred Harker, Art Herpolsheimer, Bill Haefke, Johnny Johns, Bill Ward, Ed Ziemet, and Harold Schulz. Of the regulars, Erv Hauf was chosen all-suburban fullback and Dick Jones, Jim Horne, Bob Bliss, Bud Lemon and Dick Snyder received honorable mention.

Next years co-captains, Buck Chaney, who alternated with Benington, and Corky Johnson, headed a promising group of juniors: Rice, Seymour, Smith, Theilman, Ligare, Helm, Francis, Shedd and Brumbaugh.

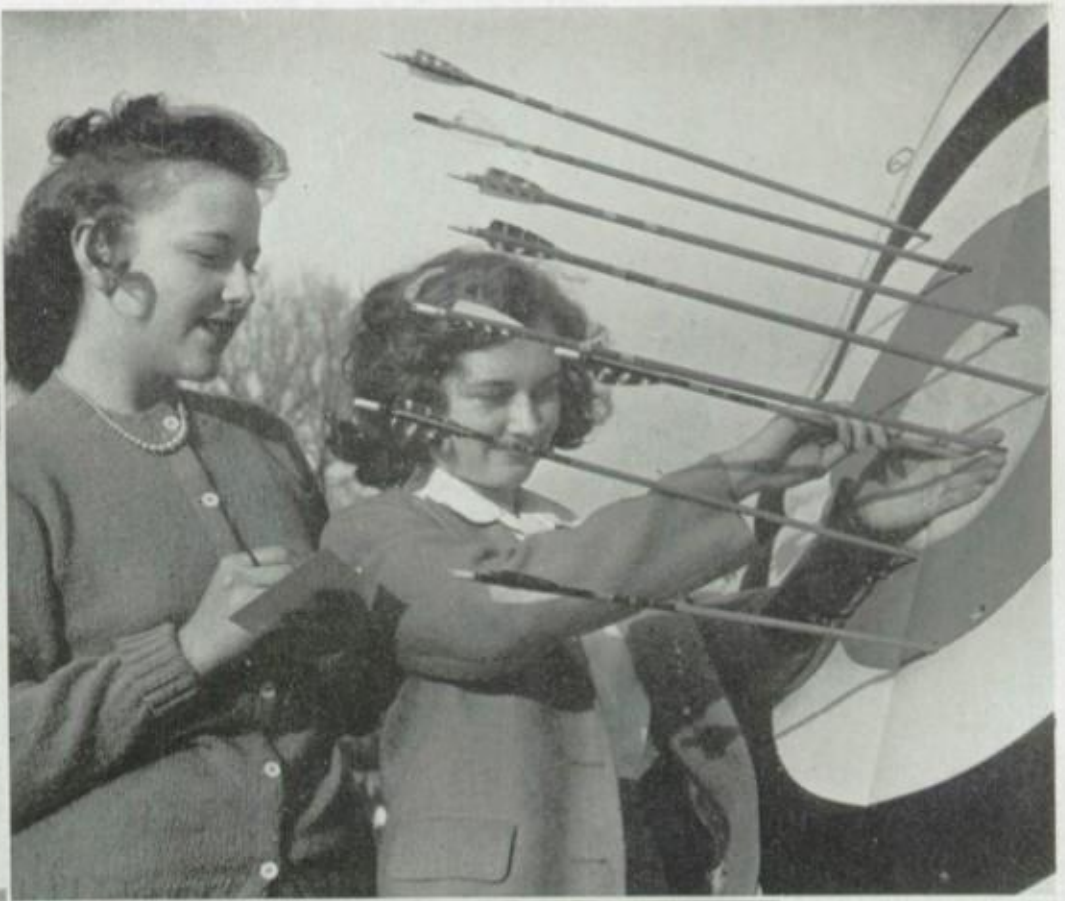

TOP—Al Perry, Elliott Westbrook, Clifton Merry, Coach Schultz.
 BOTTOM—Don Joyce, Art Murray, Leon Miles.

While the well-clad footballers were tearing up the practice fields, scantily-clad cross-country men braved the wintry winds to run their "two-mile-plus" race. An outstanding distance runner was found in Elliott Westbrook, who won firsts in all but two meets. In the big invitational meet at Proviso, in which the team finished sixth out of twelve competitors, Westbrook won a second. Other good men who placed in the meets were Art Murray, Leon Miles, Cliff Merry, Al Perry, and Don Joyce. Mr. Schultz was the cross country coach. In the season's record, which follows, low score wins:

Palatine48	Evanston . .19	Skokie51	Evanston . . .24
Lane18	Evanston . .45	Morton . . .34	Evanston . . .22
Proviso28	Evanston . .28	Maine . . .27	Evanston . . .30

In conjunction with its war program G.A.A. has carried on an extensive physical fitness schedule. After-school sports have afforded good recreation and exercise for the participants: speedball and hockey in the fall; badminton, bowling, and basketball in the winter; soccer, archery, and softball in the spring. In addition to these activities junior and senior leaders have continued to help the physical education teachers in their classes, and also to collect the tin cans from the cafeteria.

At the party on March 24 the 1944-5 board took over the reins from Dorothy Johnson, president; Mary Davellis, vice-president; Betty Jean Harper, secretary; Marilyn Meyer, publicity.

With winter came an assortment of activities and festivities. An exceptionally exciting basketball season held the interest of the students and had spectators shouting themselves hoarse. The drama department presented "Stage Door" as the major production of the year. Despite cold weather the M.T.C. held its regular morning formations.

With the approach of Christmas vacation, E.T. H.S. students lent a helping hand to Evanston merchants to relieve pressure during the holiday rush. Some worked part time and some took full time jobs in department stores. In addition some students went to work in war plants, and a few continued their jobs after the New Year.

Under the auspices of the Army and Navy, the school directed tests for A-5, V-5, V-12, A-12. These examinations were given at regular intervals during the year. Many boys who took the tests have been accepted.

The music department presented its usual gift to Evanston in its Christmas concert. The chorus sang both modern and traditional songs, and the audience joined in singing the well known carols. On Christmas Eve many members of the chorus assembled at Fountain Square to sing carols.

Wartime material and manpower shortages have curtailed many of the school's extra-curricular activities, but the drama department, under the leadership of Mr. Howard Wilson, continued to delight Evanstonians with its varied productions.

The year's major production, Ferber and Kaufman's "Stage Door," presented a cast of thirty-two to sell-out audiences February 11 and 12 in social hall. Cast and crews carried on despite a blizzard during the all-important last week of rehearsal and the ever-present possibility that Uncle Sam would require the services of the director.

Other productions of the department have included "Good Morning, Dear Teacher," an original one-act by Marilyn Mortensen showing the hardships of a freshman on her first day in school; "The Wedding"; "Who Gets the Car Tonight?" and "A Night at an Inn", the exciting story of a band of thieves.

MILITARY TRAINING CORPS

Over three hundred strong, the cadets have marched through the year under the command of Col. Richard Julin. A crack drill platoon, the Corps Rifles, selected from over a hundred cadets, volunteered to drill after school, trained by Lt. Col. James Jensen until he joined the Coast Guard.

Lt. Col. Hugh Albers, Maj. William Bissell, Maj. Richard Cantrell, and Lt. Richard Cavanaugh, veteran marksmen, helped the rifle team capture the Midwest championship for the third successive year. Sgt. Amos Mathews was high man.

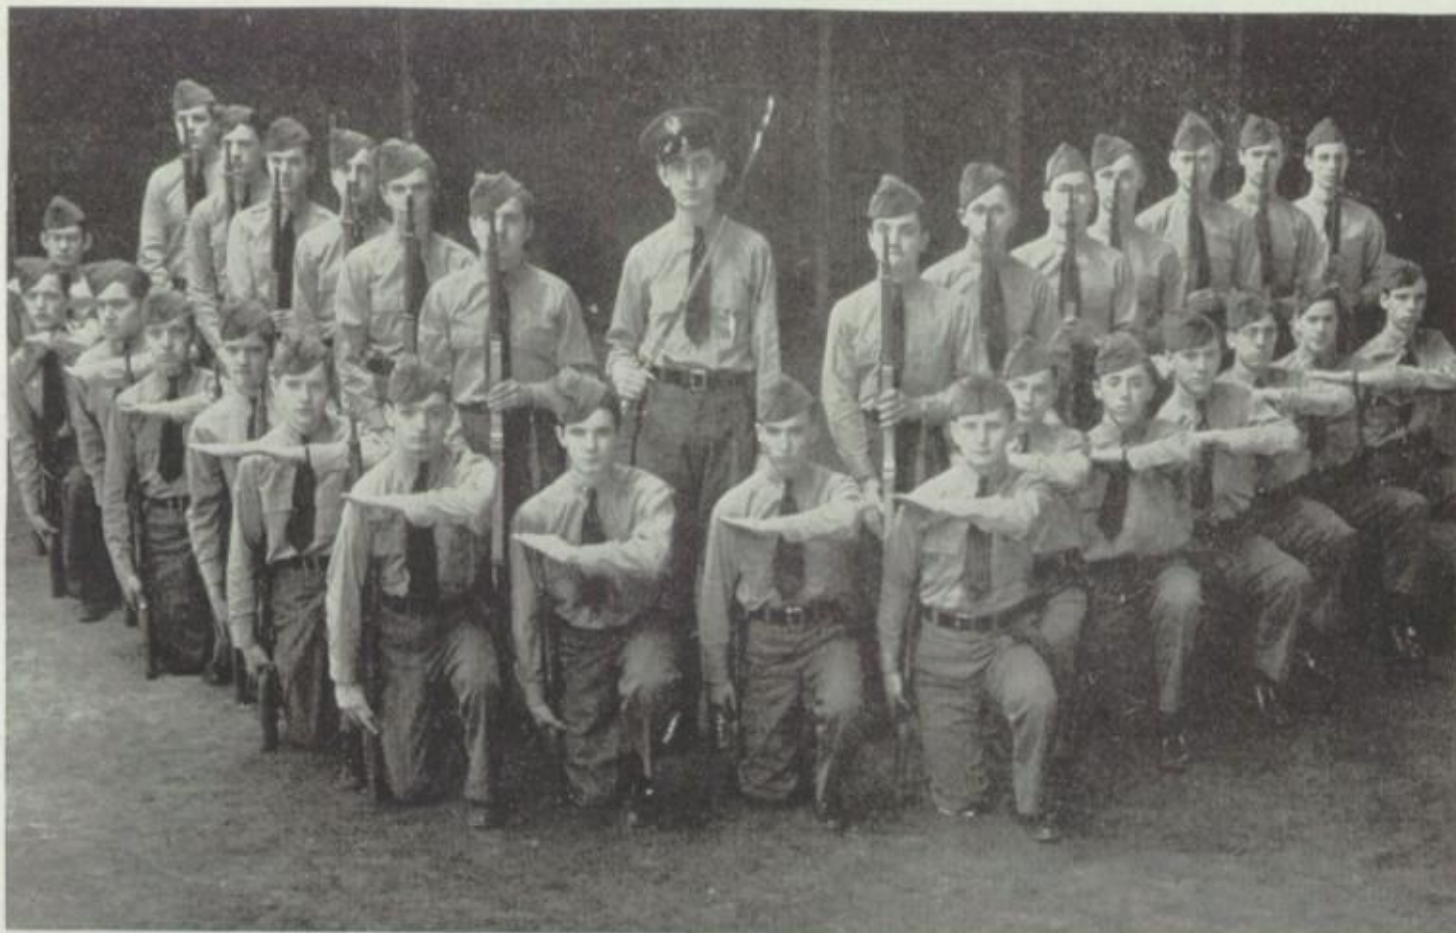

The jingle of spurs and the swish of formals proclaimed the Corps Ball. Directed by Capt. James Collett, this traditional dance reached its climax when Staff Sgt. Amos Mathews led the underclassmen through the sabre arch formed by seniors.

The Girls' Drill Corps, formed last year, took on the added responsibility of war work. Though rolling bandages for the Red Cross kept them busy, they produced a snappy drill team directed by Major Jane Denham, commander.

Pentangle's important meetings of the year were the faculty tea, the fashion show, and the joint Pentangle-Trireme meeting at which Mrs. Hobart, who had recently returned from Japan aboard the "Gripsholm" described her life in Japan as an enemy alien and her return trip aboard the exchange ship.

Holly wreaths, artificial snow, gaily decked trees, pine boughs, and black-board masterpieces of Good St. Nick ushered in the Christmas season. The annual music festival, with both traditional and modern songs, lifted the spirits of all who attended. The chorus, garbed in bright colors, presented a cheery picture. The season reached a climax at the all-school assembly the Friday before vacation. A Navy chaplain spoke and the chorus presented selections from "The Messiah."

The Suburban League basketball season was phenomenally close, characterized by many one and two point decisions. Proviso, the champions, won four consecutive games by a single point. Evanston, finishing second with three losses in ten games, handed Proviso its only defeat in League competition. Regulars were Orchie Benington, Jim Rogers, Sam Adams, Bill Hart, Dick Snyder, Carl Wren and two juniors, Fritzie Smith and Corky Johnson. The reserves were Don Arries, Harold Schulz, Gene Bruskovitz, Dave Shedd, and Connie Eimers. The coaches were Rocky Hampton and Floyd Wilson.

A remarkably fine Varsity Swimming team won 9 of 11 meets this season, placed third in the suburban league and fourth in the state meet. Bill Heusner, the outstanding free-styler, won a photo-finish second in the state. The other competing seniors were Harold Westerburg, Paul Cook, Bill Needler, Bob Hershberger, and Bud Johnson. Dudley Harned was the senior diver and Bill Perkowitz the junior. The outstanding juniors were Menary, Burlingame, Amstutz, Jones, Kellog, Browning, Bronson, and Holloway.

The first sign of Spring at E.T.H.S. is the appearance of the horticulture students in the yard, doing mysterious things to the small pool there. Then biology teachers begin shepherding their distracted flocks around the lawn, where they peer at leaves and furtively look for signs telling species of any tree not an oak. Indoors, pupils catching spring fever (particularly contagious in May) gaze at the sun-drenched cloisters dreamily and so intently that they almost forget to watch the clock.

Spring sports are popular. After school, the girls may be seen on their knees near the archery range searching for lost arrows, and others shoot, calling attention to good shots and hurrying pull out arrows that hit the wrong target. The Saddle Club again rides the trail through the woods on horses more lively than in winter. Baseball begins and the obstacle course hardens muscles.

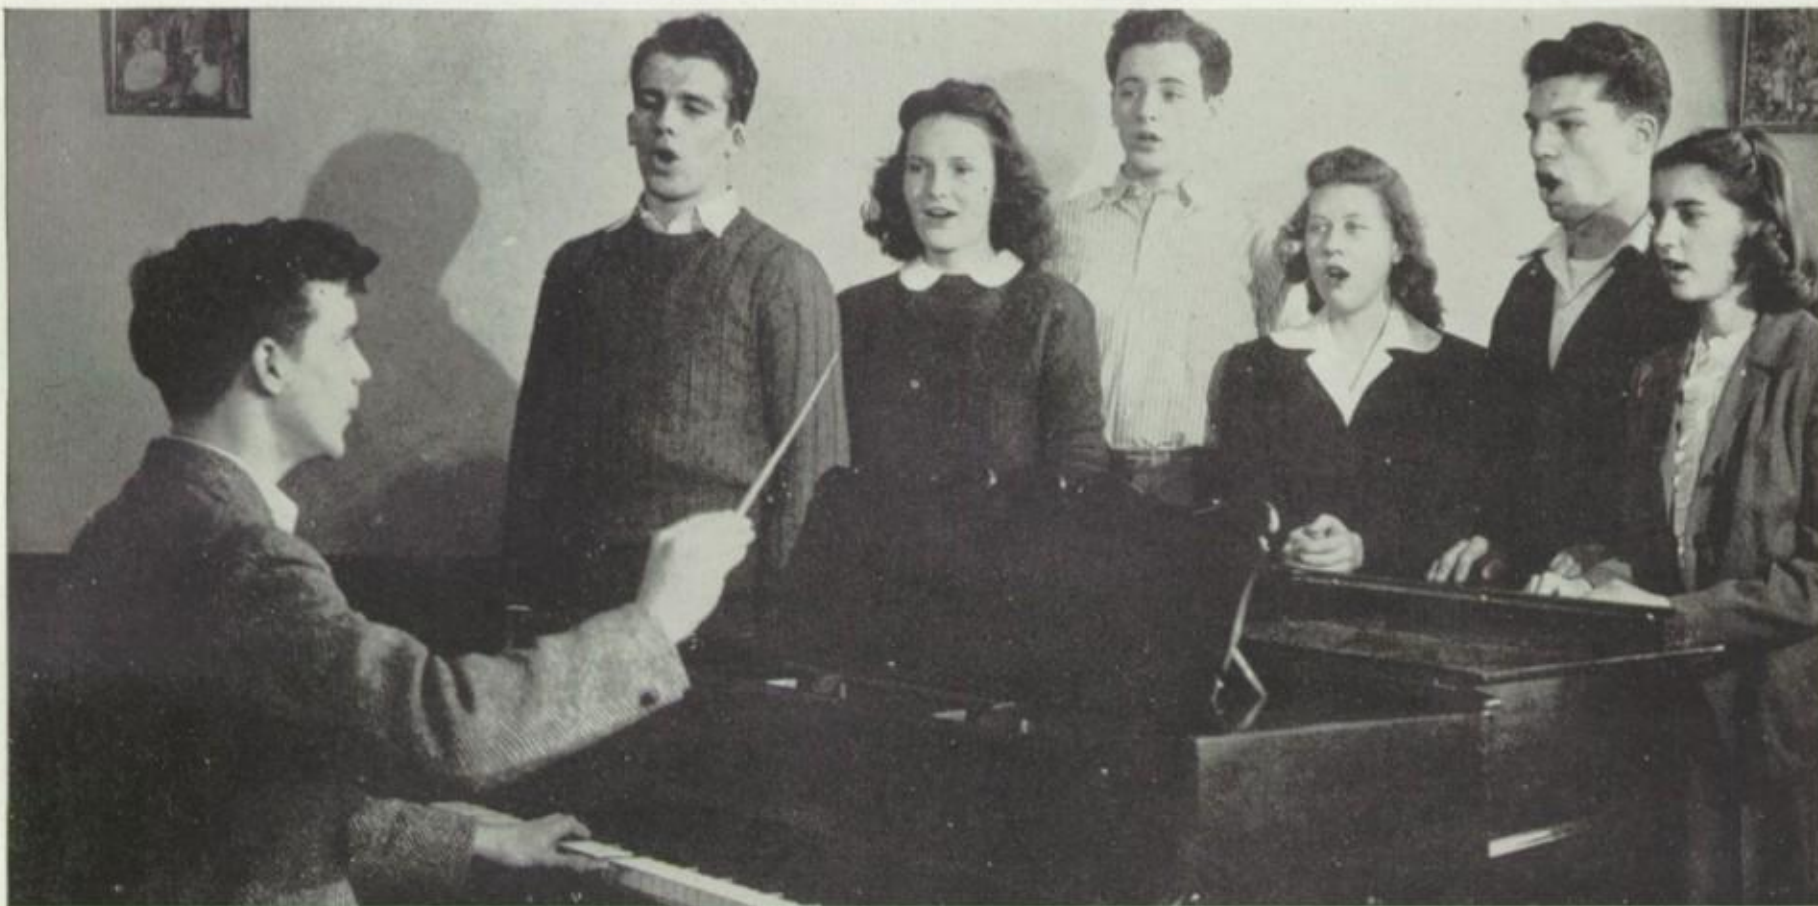

It is also in spring that the music students begin to buckle down to the task of learning various songs for the annual Spring Festival. Not only do they undertake to sing tricky American numbers, but also foreign language pieces. This year, in accordance with the United Nations theme, they presented a Russian repertoire. Immediately following, rehearsals began for the operetta, "Iolanthe."

Nowhere in E.T.H.S. was there a busier and more spirited atmosphere than prevailed in the music department. Under the guidance of Miss Sadie Rafferty, Miss Claire Vander Griend, and Miss Ruby Shaw, the special chorus groups, including the A Cappella Choir, Mastersingers, Girls' Choir, and Madrigals, maintained their high standards in a number of public appearances.

The symphony orchestra, directed by Mr. Traugott Rohner, and the band, under the new leadership of Mr. Fred A. Krueger, played at all-school assemblies, besides presenting their annual fall and June concerts.

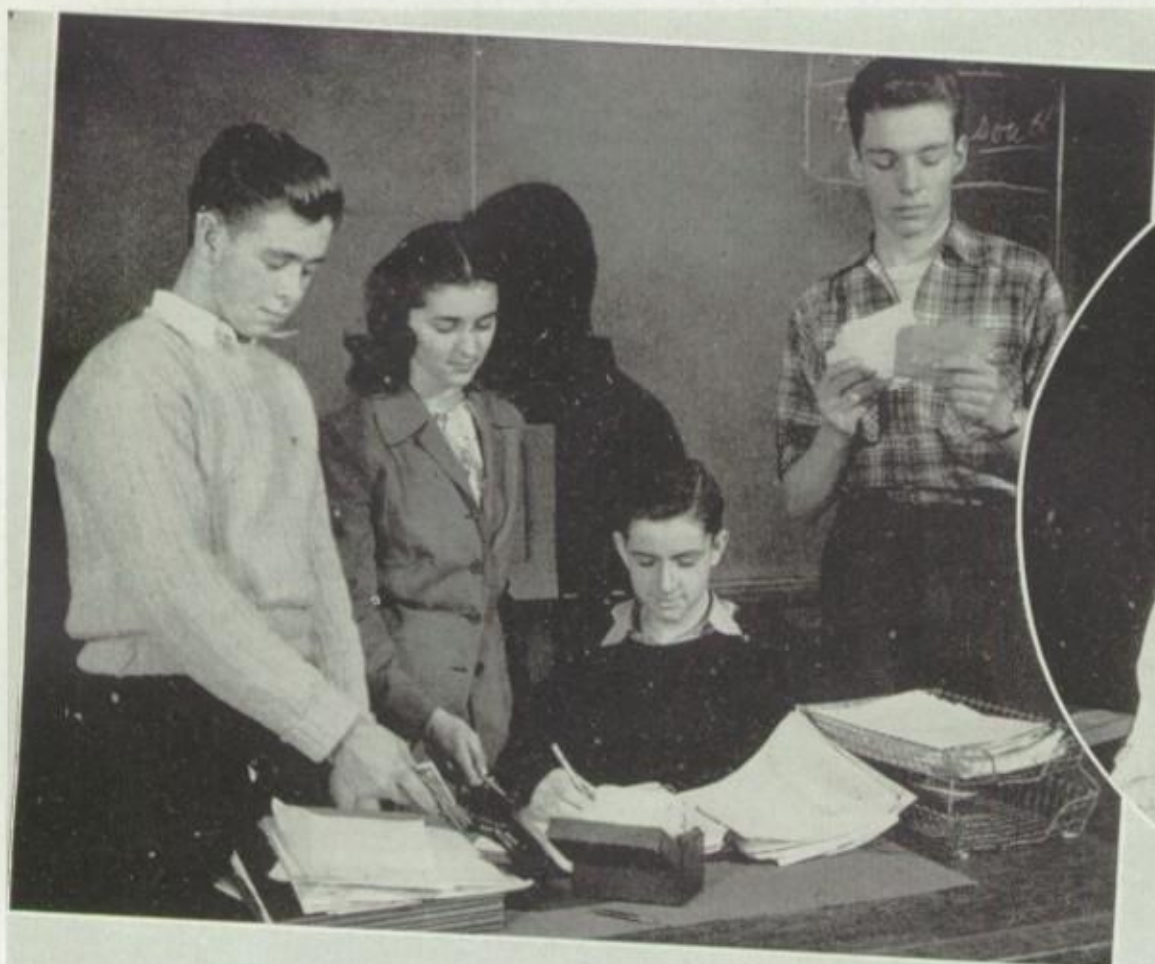

The first combined performance of the chorus and orchestra, this year, took place at St. Luke's church, where various selections from "The Messiah" were presented for the third year in succession. The Christmas Festival was highlighted by such selections as Irving Berlin's "White Christmas", and Dave Rose's "Holiday for Strings". A three-piano number, featuring Miss Hadassah McGiffin, Miss VanderGriend, and Miss Shaw, and the Male Festival Chorus were but two of the many specialties presented at the annual Spring Festival, which in accordance with tradition, was a stirring success.

The "Evanstonian" has few peers among high school newspapers. The eight-page paper is edited by students under the direction of Mr. Verhulst, faculty adviser. Robert Harvey, editor-in-chief, Mitchell Campbell, and David Howlett, first and second assistants, head the numerous editors, including Gloria Schabes, copy desk; Dorrie Shearer, news desk; John Rundall, feature; and Helen Brooks, interview. Harry Jackson was advertising manager. Though the Pacemaker award had not been announced before the Yearbook went to press, the newspaper staff and editors held high hopes for its attainment.

Off the Mark

Seniors this year will look back on a year of seriousness and fun that will live in their memories for a long time. Forty-four was the year of shocking and glorious news from America's battle fronts, of heated politics, of the smashing Russian drives into the Ukraine.

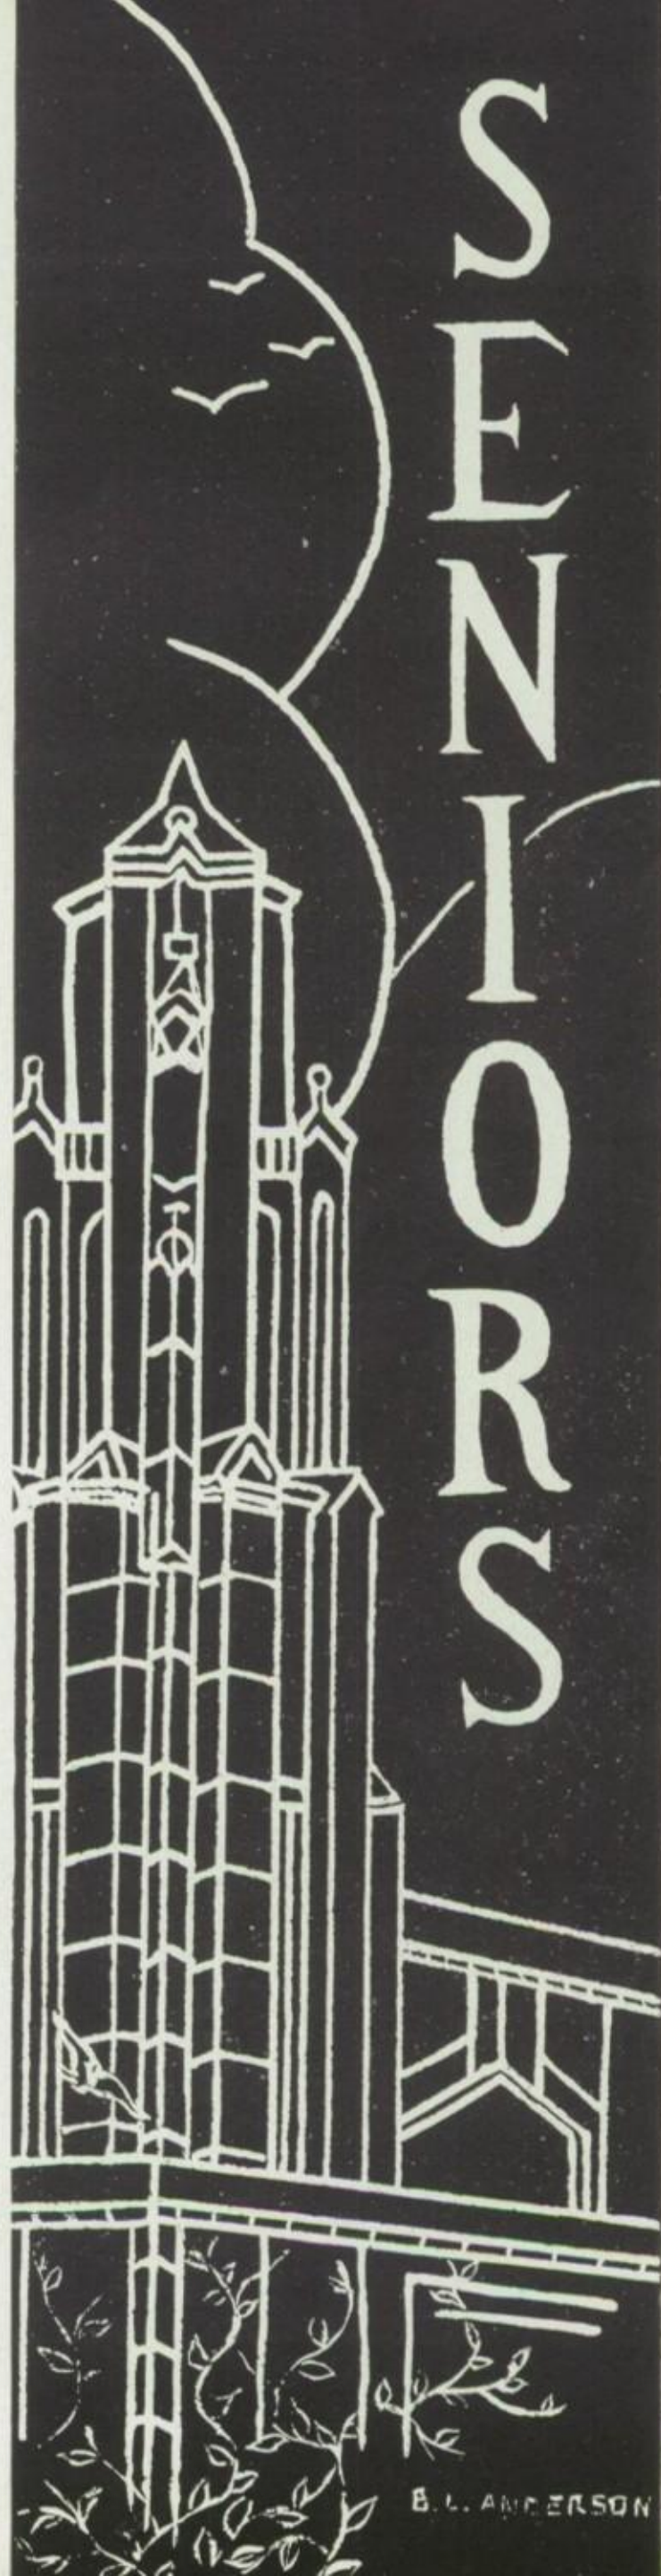

Forty-four was also the last year of hops and proms for many seniors. They will remember the grand march at the Corps Ball and the gaiety of the Turn-about, as well as football games at which they yelled wildly—especially the excitement of the last half of the New Trier game; they'll remember the great debate over the class gift, the hot-dog wagon man on the corner, the crowding at the bus stop. For these are the little things that mean E.T.H.S. to them. The seniors will recall the snow shrouded memorial trees on the lawn, the haze that closes in the school on an autumn morning, the rain that makes the ground along the diagonal walk puddles of mud, and the sudden greenness of spring.

They will also remember the ever-increasing momentum of wartime activities during their last high school year. The fulfillment of their many responsibilities was due to the realization of seniors that this war was as much theirs as it was their elders.'

Seniors took the lead in clubs and managed successful dances and other entertainments. One project of the senior class was the annual Football Dance, which honored many seniors who fought for E.T.H.S. on the gridiron. Senior boys left during the year for the services, for accelerated college programs, and for work in war industries.

Yes, this is a year that will long be remembered by the class of 1944.

When the United States entered the war, the War Activities Commission was formed to investigate how the school could help in the war effort and to head any activities that might be undertaken. Later the War Activities Commission was incorporated into the Victory Corps, a national organization started by the government.

The Victory Corps acts as a clearing house for the school's war activities and finds organizations to sponsor each new undertaking. Instead of having a board with several members, the Victory Corps chooses a director as its head. Each activity, as it is taken up, has its own special head. Miss Martha Gray is the faculty sponsor. In its first year Dick Shook was chosen student director. Then came Stan Hamilton and this year David de Swarte. Mitchell Campbell is the Victory Corps secretary.

Most of the organizations in the school had some part in the Victory Corps program the first year. This year it has become even more active. Special subdivisions—land, sea, air, home front, and general—were created and pins issued for each division. Two thousand four hundred forty-seven students enrolled.

Quadrangle, Pentangle, and Trireme have taken their part in the Victory program. A coat-hanger drive by Trireme and Pentangle netted two hundred dozen coat-hangers for sailors at Navy Pier. At Christmas the girls filled two hundred stockings for the D.A.R. and for Bundles for America to present to boys at Fort Sheridan. The clubs have been making bandages for Evanston Hospital and scrap books for soldiers. Trireme girls have kept the school's list of men in service as nearly up to date as possible. Quadrangle has provided the Junior Air Raid Wardens, helped in various scrap drives, and sponsored book drives.

The Girls' Athletic Association assisted in last year's book drive and this year has been salvaging tin cans. The Central Council has appropriated funds for various war activities. A drive sponsored by sophomore and junior presidents brought three thousand six hundred garments for Russian Relief.

A special physical fitness program was adopted in the middle of the '42-43 school year. Under the new plan, physical education classes meet every day and much attention is given to correcting remediable defects. Conditioning for boys and victory-gym for girls have received special emphasis. Girls have first-aid classes. Tuberculosis tests and dental examinations continued in conjunction with this program. A gym show was given this year, with a large part of the school participating.

Both the Army and the Navy have given tests here at regular six-month intervals for the A-5 and V-5, A-12 and V-12 divisions. As a result, many E.T.H.S. boys are getting a chance at specialized training which they might not otherwise have had. The grades of E.T.H.S. boys were well above average and a large percentage of the applicants have been accepted.

Last year the Junior Red Cross collected a special war fund of more than four hundred dollars. Workers sent games to the Chicago Marine Hospital for Christmas, menu covers made by the art classes, and several shipments of magazines to hospitals. This year the Red Cross has been making scrap books for soldiers, making dressings, and rolling bandages.

The War Chest almost quadrupled its collections—$120 last year and $456 this year.

The Girls' Drill Corps was organized in March, 1943. Under the instruction of the M.T.C. it became sufficiently well drilled to represent the school in the Memorial Day parade. This year it has been independent of the M.T.C., doing its own drilling. It grew from last year's hundred and forty-eight members to a hundred and seventy-five this year. Major Jane Denham is the commanding officer and Miss Irene Harshbarger is the faculty sponsor. The members drilled twice a week in warm weather, once a week in cold weather, and met once a week to do war work such as rolling bandages, making scrapbooks, and filling Christmas stockings for soldiers.

Junior Air Raid Wardens were organized to supplement the senior warden system. Robert Hausheer succeeded Hawley Smith this year as director. The junior wardens are useful as messengers in the Air Raid Warden system and are trained to take over when senior wardens are not present. They have also been active in various scrap and war relief drives.

War stamps are a big part of the school's war effort. Last year $38,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold. In May the school received the treasury flag for more than ninety percent participation. Sales this year have been even better. In the first semester $34,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold, and before spring vacation the figure had passed $60,000. The first $45,000 was used to buy a tank. After that, each $15,000 went for a Fairchild "Cornell" trainer (PT-19B). Stamp and bond sales have consistently held to more than $1,000 a week. The average weekly purchase per student has been sixty-seven cents.

Evanston students are trying to do their part as well as Evanston alumni are doing theirs.

HONOR ROLL

Lt. Frank D. Case Jr., '32, a graduate of Annapolis, saw duty on the destroyer U.S.S. Manky, served aboard the aircraft carrier "Lexington", and then requested transfer to the Naval Air Corps. He received his wings in August, 1940. After eight months more training at Miami, Florida, he was assigned to the aircraft carrier "Wasp" as gunnery officer. On February 23, 1942, Lt. Case was killed in a plane crash while on patrol over the Atlantic.

First Lt. Charles A. Cressey, '39, took his training for Army Air Corps at Santa Ana, Calif. For his exceptional service with the the Eighth Air Force over Europe he received the Air Force and three oak leaf clusters. Lt. Cressey was killed on his twenty-third mission—over Bremen, Germany, October 8, 1943. The Purple Heart medal was awarded posthumously.

Lt. Charles W. Willis, '40, was also trained for the Army Air Corps at Santa Ana and at Gardner Field, Calif. In September, 1943, he flew from Grand Island, Nebraska to Scotland. On his ninth mission he met death over Schweinfurt, Germany, October 14, 1943.

Ensign Henry Barnett Cowap, '33, Naval Air

Corps instructor, was killed when his dual training plane burst into flame and crashed at Stump Field, just outside Pensacola, Florida, January 22, 1941.

Ensign Walter Cook, '34, enlisted in the Navy Air Corps and was commissioned a flying ensign in the Naval Reserve in January, 1942. After eight months at Miami, he was assigned to active duty on the carrier "Enterprise". On September 10, 1942, he piloted a dive bomber in the battle of the Solomons, shot down two Japanese planes, and was credited with assists on two more. He was reported missing on this mission and in May, 1943, he was officially reported killed.

Lt. Richard M. Foss, '37, was trained for the Army Air Corps at Tulsa, Oklahoma, and at Kelly Field, Texas. He has been missing since a bombing mission in a B-24 Liberator, in the South Pacific, July 8, 1943.

Staff Sgt. Carl Irving Chase, '40, had been in England since June of 1943 when he was reported missing in action. His B-17 Flying Fortress failed to return from a mission over Germany, October 9, 1943.

FACULTY IN SERVICE

Robert E. Anspaugh, former mathematics teacher and Chess Club sponsor, is an air-craft technician instructor in the Army Air Corps, stationed at Madison, Wis.

C. O. Arndt is in the U. S. Department of Education at Washington, D. C., as a specialist in Far Eastern and South American affairs with the Federal Security Agency. At Evanston he was connected with the New School.

Doyle Cady, lieutenant (j.g.), is a mathematics instructor in the Navy Pre-flight school at Chapel Hill, N. C.

William C. Carpenter, U. S. N., formerly in the commercial department, was at Camp Hill, Col., Farragut, Idaho, and then at Abbott Hall. Recently he was sent to Ohio State University to study airplane recognition.

John Creighton, who was with the music department for a semester, is a corporal in the Medical Corps at Camp Barkley, Texas.

Nelson J. Culver is in charge of recreation and welfare at the naval base at Norfolk, Va. He taught driver education at E.T.H.S.

Alice De Bower is with the U.S.O. at Fort Smith, Ark. Formerly she was with the girls' physical education department.

Charles E. Dehner of the commercial arts department is now at Corpus Christi, where he is a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps.

Dorothy C. Dennis, core instructor last year in the New School, now with the American Red Cross, has been in North Africa and is now in Italy.

Undine Dunn of the English department took her Red Cross training at the American University in Washington, D. C., and is now stationed in Hawaii.

Ben F. Edman of the science department is an ensign in the Navy. He was first sent to Fort Schuyler in the Bronx and later to Arlington, Mass.

Carlyle Ehri, formerly of the social studies department is a lieutenant (j. g.) on a corvette which does convoy duty in the Pacific. His base is San Francisco.

Howard E. Gotsch, who taught biology and horticulture here, is a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps and instructs in navigation at Lubbock, Texas.

Orville Gransee, formerly military training director at Evanston and later lieutenant with the field artiller division at McCullough Field, Calif., has recently been sent overseas.

Harold Heinkel, S 2-c, is a rifle instructor at Great Lakes. Before entering the Navy, he was manager of the school store.

Edna L. Henrie, music and arts supervisor in the New School, has enlisted in the Waves.

Frances Johnson, instructor in the girls' physical education department, is with the American Red Cross in England, stationed at the 19th General Hospital.

Maj. Paul W. Jones, who left his post as commandant of the M.T.C. in 1941 to enter active service, went overseas in 1942 with the 33rd Division. The latest word received indicated that he was then in the Fiji Islands.

Cyrus Jennings, building trades instructor at high school and now a lieutenant colonel in the Army, is a port officer stationed at Charleston, S. C.

Walter Loban, lieutenant, was stationed at Virginia Beach before going overseas as an anti-aircraft specialist in the Navy. He was connected with the New School.

Rose McGlennon, formerly a school librarian, is now librarian at a Navy hospital in Seattle, Wash.

Clarence A. Miller, radio technician 2-c, is in charge of radio activity on the submarine "Pipefish." Formerly head of dramatics, Mr. Miller taught at Great Lakes, Washington, D. C., and San Francisco.

Robert Munzer, in charge of audio-visual equipment at high school, is on a destroyer escort, the U. S. S. Straub, operating off the Atlantic coast.

Muriel Parks, English teacher and manager of the central book service, is a hospital recreation worker with the American Red Cross in New Guinea.

Carl F. Parker, a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, is instructor in physical fitness at Chanute Field, Ill. In high school he was in the physical education department.

Mila Pierce, former school doctor, served the British Red Cross at the Children's Hospital in Birmingham, England. She was later sent to London with a captaincy rating in the American Army.

Richard C. Robbins, former commandant of the M.T.C., is a lieutenant in the field artillery at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Ens. Arthur L. Ryden received his commission at Abbott Hall. After spending eighteen months in Alaska, he was sent to San Francisco to await further orders. Mr. Ryden was with the social studies department for one semester.

Walter Schmidt of the industrial arts department is a 2-c specialist in the Navy. Mr. Schmidt was stationed at Navy Pier until recently.

Roy A. Schuessler, S 2-c, has been at Farragut, Idaho, throughout his naval career. Mr. Schuessler was with the music department at Evanston.

Jack A. Secord of the physical education department was sent to Navy Pier, but no word has been heard from him recently.

Francis H. Tresise joined the Navy as a P.O. 2-c. He is with the education and art department at Navy Pier with a staff of fifteen which he has built up. At E.T.H.S. Mr. Tresise was in the art department.

Virgil Van Cleave, a physical education teacher, joined the navy and was sent to Norfolk, Va., and then to Columbia University for further training.

Edward J. Williams was sent to Camp McCoy and Camp Ellis before joining the A.S.T.P. at Madison, Wis. He was a secretary in the physical education department.

William R. Wood, lieutenant (j. g.), head of the English department and director of Room 104, enlisted in the Navy in 1943 and was sent to Fort Schuyler, N. Y., Washington, D. C., and Seattle before going to San Bruno, Calif., with overseas orders.

AMONG THOSE CITED

John Johnstone, '35, now serving overseas with a unit of amphibious engineers, was awarded the Legion of Merit by Gen. Eisenhower for his work in connection with the supplying and equipping of units or the Italian and Sicilian campaigns. He entered the Army in 1940 with the rank of technical sergeant, when the National Guard was called into service, and was stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn., for many months.

Lt. Richard E. Hochschild, '40, formerly reported missing over Burma, was killed in action in the Asiatic area while in an army transport. He has been awarded the Purple Heart posthumously. Leaving the States early in December, Lt. Hochschild apparently had been in India only a few days before the flight over Burma. He received his army wings and commission as a lieutenant in May, 1943, and was stationed at Altus Field, Okla., before being sent overseas.

Pfc. Robert Edward Hanna, '38, winner of the Tribune award for outstanding merit and achievement in military training at E.T.H.S., was killed in action on Guadalcanal, Jan. 3, 1943. Pfc. Hanna had been stationed in Australia and New Caledonia for about one year before his transfer to Guadalcanal in December. He enlisted in March, 1941, and received preliminary training at Camp Forrest, Tenn. and Camp Croft, S. C.

Sgt. Joseph A. Carlson, '39, of the Marines, wears three bronze stars which signify that he has participated in three major engagements. He received the Presidential citation won by the first Marine Air wing for having downed the most enemy planes in the Pacific theater, with stars in recognition of Guadalcanal, Munda, and Bougainville. As a member of a Marine Air Corps ground crew in charge of ordnance and engines, it was Pvt. Carlson's duty to keep Corsair fighters flying.

Lt. John P. Schroeder, '38, bombardier in the Army Air Force, has been awarded the fifth oak leaf cluster to add to his previously won Air medal for his part in recent air attacks in the Gilbert Islands. Schroeder has been stationed in the Pacific for nearly a year and has seen action in many raids against Japanese positions.

Robert E. Beisang, who witnessed the first shot fired in the present war, was damage control officer of the famous U.S.S. Helena. The first shot fired in the present war was a torpedo sent into the side of the "Helena" in Pearl Harbor. Lt. Beisang's naval career has taken him through most of the major engagements of the Pacific. During the sinking of the "Helena", the crew boarded life rafts, and continued unprotected. The Jap destroyers, out for revenge, sent a barrage of heavy caliber shells at the rafts, which were later rescued by U. S. destroyers.

Pvt. Harold Sternquist has been awarded a Silver Star for "gallantry in action in Italy." Serving with a medical battalion, he also wears the African Campaign ribbon and the Army Good Conduct ribbon and will receive gold braid signifying his membership in the best combat team regiment in his division. During an attack by the Infantry Regiment, Pvt. Sternquist went forward with his ambulance to the advanced section of the battalion aid station. The only road available for ambulance evacuation was in full view of the enemy and under heavy artillery and mortar fire. Pvt. Sternquist loaded his ambulance with two casualties and proceeded to evacuate them despite the fact that enemy machine guns began spraying the road.

Petty Officer 2-c Walter DeVinck, '38, participated in six major naval engagements before the destroyer on which he was stationed was torpedoed under him. P. O. DeVinck saw action in the battles of Pearl Harbor, the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, Marcus, Wake, Midway, and the Solomons. During the attack on Pearl Harbor, the "Blue" was credited with downing six planes and one submarine. After the sinking of the "Blue", crew members were taken to a base in the New Hebrides and on to New Zealand and Australia, where Officer DeVinck was assigned to duty aboard a tanker. On April 19 he reported aboard a destroyer which was commissioned in a west coast port.

Thomas Kane, gunner's mate 2-c, veteran of six major naval engagements in the Pacific, has seen two great carriers, the "Wasp" and the "Hornet," go down and has witnessed the naval bombardment of Tarawa. Kane's six major engagements included the battle of Midway and the Solomons campaign. In addition to bronze and silver stars, he wears a decoration to indicate he took part in the first shooting action of this conflict, which was an encounter between American naval forces and Nazi submarines in the North Atlantic some months before war was declared.

Presentation of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Lieut. William C. Gilbert, '36, by Eddie Rickenbacker in India was the second honor to come to him in several months. Over a year ago, he received the Air medal from the hand of Gen. "Hap" Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, having completed more than one hundred hours of combat duty as bomber pilot and co-pilot. He has since been relieved of combat duty to avoid excessive strain, and has been made squadron communications officer. Gilbert entered the air forces in August, 1941. He went overseas in August, 1942, and was stationed in Syria before going to India in December.

Sgt. William Smiley, '40, a member of the Marine Corps amphibious forces, was wounded in the Battle of Tarawa, and has been awarded the Purple Heart. He has been in the service over two years and was stationed in the Solomons until the Marines moved northward to Tarawa.

Sgt. Philip Hansen, '39, ball turret gunner on a Flying Fortress, has been honored with stars and ribbons for major campaigns at Pearl Harbor, Midway, and the Solomons, an award for good conduct under fire, two inverted gold chevrons signifying more than one year's service within the combat zone, and a "hash mark" indicating a second enlistment as well as the silver wings of the army air forces. The three planes on which he flew have a record of downing thirty-eight Zeros. Sgt. Hansen, who enlisted in the army in May, 1939, three weeks before his graduation from Evanston Township High School, received his diploma in absentia, and was stationed at Hickham Field, Honolulu, when the Japanese attacked on December 7, 1941.

Staff Sgt. William LaBahn, a veteran of the Aleutian Islands is credited with downing five Jap Zeros during his two and one-half years of service in the North Pacific. S-Sgt. LaBahn holds an Air medal and has been recommended for the Silver Star. He bears a shrapnel wound, now apparently healed, over his left eye—the memento of a mission over Kiska. As aerial gunner on a Martin Marauder, he participated in twenty combat missions and three major engagements with the enemy over Kiska, Attu, and Paramishiru. After his return from the Aleutians he instructed new aerial gunners at Barkdale Field, La., and then was sent to an air force technical school in Denver.

Lt. Edward C. Kein, A. A. F. pilot, has been awarded two oak leaf clusters in lieu of additional Air medals. The first Cluster was awarded by Lt. Gen. Harmon, commander of the A. A. F. in the area on December 17, 1943, for Lt. Kein's missions performed between July 28 and August 15. When he went overseas in mid-June of last year, Kein was a pilot of a four-motored B-24 Liberator bomber.

Lt. Charles E. Place, '37, of the Army Air Corps has received the Air medal and the Purple Heart. Pilot of a Mustang medium fighter-bomber, he was wounded in an air battle which was a prelude to the invasion to Sicily. A shell fragment crushed his left elbow, and although he was bleeding profusely and could not apply a tourniquet he was able to maneuver his ship and keep it flying until he reached a base in Africa, where he made a safe landing. The Air medal was awarded him for the cool-headedness and courage he displayed in this action.

ALUMNI IN SERVICE

Day by day, students of E.T.H.S. have watched the numbers on the service flag for World War II grow larger. Eight times as many Evanston graduates are already in the armed services as there were in the last war.

Because of the early publication date, the list cannot be complete or entirely accurate. The Alumni Association, which is assembling the service record, requests that corrections and additions to the list be sent to the association in care of the school.
